Oddfellows Observe 119th Anniversary Of Order

Approximately 75 local fellows and Rebekahs, with members of lodges from Clive, Deer and Ponoka, commemorated the 119th anniversary of the institution of the Order by attending church service at Lacombe Sunday afternoon, May 8, at Andrew's United Church.

Led by C. E. Todd and Saunders, the members gathered at the I.O.O.F. Hall and marched in a body to hear an interesting sermon by the Rev. A. L. on the three links of the Order—“Friendship, Love and Truth.”

Rev. Carr pictured the friendship between Mary and Lazarus, where Jesus was a constant visitor, and where the rare friendship which existed between these four people. He stated that "Friendship involves many things and suggests many things which draw people together. Love gives of itself unselfish service and sacrifice. Truth is sincerity or realization."

which expression is given to the words and in character, the words are meaningless if the character behind them does not coincide; Truth is characteristically expressed in all its beauty and grandeur."

Mrs. T. N. Lett presided as organ during the service. Following the parade to the rooms, refreshments were served by members of the Lacombe Grange Lodge. J. S. Crabtree, Grand of Magnet Lodge No. 1, Lacombe, extended a cordial welcome to the visitors, and Bessie Carr expressed pleasure in the opportunity of meeting members of the Order.

Death of Mrs. W. G. Hotson is a Shock To the Community

What came as a distinct surprise to residents of the Town of George was the death of George W. Hotson at the Town Combe and District Hospital Monday morning at 1:30 o'clock. She was the wife of George Hotson, local optometrist. Mrs. Hotson was 68 years of age. She deceased was taken to the hospital on May 2 for observ-and diagnosis, suffering from an internal ailment, and was called on last Saturday.

Of a kindly disposition, the Mrs. Hotson had a host of friends who mourn her passing.

She was 54 years of age and was born in 1883 at Kemble, near Co. Sound, Ont., her maiden name being Sarah Katherine Johnson. She came to Lacombe May 1919, and on December 31 of the same year married Mr. Hotson.

The late Mrs. Hotson was member of the former Presbyterian Church and attended United Church after union. There are no children and those he

Funeral services were held at the United Church Wednesday afternoon, May 11, with the Rev. A. L. Carr officiating. A number of floral tributes were sent to the church, and a service of respect in which the choir sang hymns.

The pallbearers were: V. Troit, H. L. Brown, W. C. S. P. C. Owen, G. T. Jackson and J. Price.

Mill Rate Up!

INCREASED taxation is always a bitter pill for those who foot the bill to swallow. The budget released by the Finance Committee for the Town of Lacombe this year shows that the mill rate will reach 50 mills for 1938, an increase of two mills over last year. There it is, and it is necessary, unless the Town wishes to show a deficit at the year's end, which no sane minded person wants. Analyzing the reason for the increase, the globe feels that most of it is justified. The cost of the better roads in Town and the New Hospital have been responsible for some of the increase, and we have something to show for it. Loss of taxes from C.N.R. property, which land in all probability will revert back to the Town, represents practically one mill in itself.

Increased relief, however, is another item that has caused the jump, and this is to be deplored. While some of the relief cases are genuine, others could be avoided, if only these people would get away from the idea that the world owes them a living, without giving a finger to help themselves. The old saying goes, "God helps them who help themselves."

Many of the pioneers of this country will recall the early days, when relief was unheard of, and every man had to hustle for himself. They did it—and benefited by the experience. It wasn't a case of "how much an hour am I going to get?" either. It was a matter of getting a grub-stake for themselves. The unfortunate part is, some of these relief people are not even willing to work out their relief, when afforded the opportunity to do so. That is not the right spirit. Everyone sympathizes with the man out of work, but when he refuses to do his bit, then the onus is frankly up to him.

Going further afield—look at the Calgary situation, where men are organizing a strike, mind you, to force those who have the decency to work out their relief, not to do so. It's effrontery of the worst kind. We have all better hindsight than foresight, but it is a pity the Dominion and Provincial governments did not start out on the first place by putting people needing jobs to do work on the roads all over the country, when we would have had something tangible to show for it, and the morale of these people would have been maintained.

It's Fishin' Time Again

THE middle of this month will see the opening of a new fishing season, and with its opening, hundreds of anglers from all parts of the Province will converge on streams, rivers and lakes in an outdoor catch 'em fish (which might or might not be there) as an ignorant worm. The bait will wiggle, entice the fish, and the fisherman will take the credit. At some lakes and streams there will be five to ten fishermen for every fish, but to hear an angler talk about fishing one would think it to be the most interesting sport on earth.

Each year about his time, as the old fishing rod comes out, as flies and hooks are hatched over and the merits of each decided by the fishing brethren, the old stories about the "fish that got away" are revived—but a true angler never seems to tire of this pastime. He will listen with grave interest to the story of a brother fisherman about the trout that he has just caught, and will wait patiently for the conclusion of the yarn so he can tell of that eight-pound pickerel he landed. And then, of course, as in every party, there is the person that doesn't seem to believe the story.

But it's fishing time again—and to a fisherman the important date of the year is May 15, when open warfare on all fish starts—That's life.

A Sad State of Affairs

MODERN inventions have made modern civilization what it is today. For that reason, the inventive geniuses of the past two centuries are to be praised. Modern inventions, though, have also made possible terrifying modern warfare, and for that the people of the world—not the creative minds—are to be cursed. Why is it that an invention such as an airplane, without a doubt one of the most remarkable steps in man's progress, must be used for its ability to destroy? Why is it that even the radio is being used as a means to spread the dictators of Europe, in which countries announcers about day and night propaganda to neighboring peoples, endeavoring to stir up discontent and strife among its neighbors?

Man's ingenuity does not stop with the invention of these modern appliances. It comes to an end only when the peoples of the world have twisted these inventions to their own ends. Chemists, inventors and scientists of all kinds are conducting a frenzied search in the capitals of the world, seeking more and still more appliances for the destruction of a possible enemy.

It is a sad and deplorable state of affairs when the brains of the cleverest men of Europe today are straining every effort to create new and more terrible devastating appliances for destruction.

Through the Eyes of a Country Woman

By BRIDGET

"Ersatz" is a German word meaning substitute, and it is one of the most important words in Germany today. Scientists are working day and night to find substitutes for anything and everything. The very clothes a German wears, the house he lives in, the food he eats, are seldom what they appear to be. In fact, the German who finds, for instance, an "ersatz" for even a very small percentage of fat in the manufacture of any article, is recognized in the same way as the producer of "cannon-fodder," the woman who brings ten children into the world—both are suitably rewarded and glorified by the German dictator. Speaking of dictators, that brings up the question of another "ersatz" the Germans brought upon themselves. When the German nation lost hope, after the war, they determined to be free of kings and war and wanted to form a real democracy, something the Germans had never enjoyed. On the horizon rose Hitler, who promised them a real democracy, freedom for the people, and the hope of really having a finger in the Government. What did they get? "Ersatz" Democracy, Dictatorship, for Freedom, Regeneration, for Peace, Preparation for War on a grand scale. This is not the only country in the world whose people have been forced by this sort of thing. England and Alberta have had their share of late.

Britain suffers from a Prime Minister who makes "ersatz" agreements, who are really an insult to the intelligence of the thinking population, a constant retreat in the face of demands made by dictators. However, thanks be to Heaven, the British Lion is shaking her lazy head and switching her tail, and to such good purpose that recently in three by-elections (in England) Mr. Chamberlain was defeated, his foreign policy being the only issue of the campaigns. In fact, it is with a certain amount of pride that I have been reading a manifesto that is being circulated and signed by people in all walks of life in Britain, for it coincides, in principle, with the views expressed in this column from time to time. To put it shortly, total disagreement with Mr. Chamberlain's "policy of appeasement." Vide the Mediterranean pact! The British Commonwealth of Nations need free passage of this sea, to link the various component nations of the Empire. With a Fascist Spain and Italy, what an outlook! The Italian conversations gave the "assurance" of the recognition of Britain's necessity of free access to the Mediterranean. As "ersatz" for Mr. Eden's vigorous policy, this seems feeble.

Let us turn to Spain—wasn't the non-intervention "policy" "ersatz" for a definite policy for or against either side? Now that the substitute has proven rotten, munitions are flowing freely across the border into Spain, with a corresponding stiffening of the Government's resistance.

What about us in Alberta? Are we not the victims of this "ersatz" philosophy? A few years ago, a school of thought arose that deplored, very noisily, the "poverty in the midst of plenty" (of which we were all cognizant). The school of thought claimed that taxes should be lessened; it stated with reverberating thunder that the burden of the people was intolerable, but at the same time claimed no political ambitions. After a period of years, this same party is in power in the land, taxes are increased, the burden of the people is much more intolerable. "Ersatz," again, for dividends, increased taxation; for freedom from the yoke of the capitalist, expressions by the leader of the party of his confirmed belief in capitalism; for democracy, Hitlerism.

Now we have this new "Production Tax Act" hanging over our heads. The powers that be are busy telling the folk that this tax is in lieu of existing taxes, but, in the light of a new policy, what guarantee have we that this will really be so? Even if all this be so, the amount of tax of seven per cent of production—would not a tax out of all proportion to the present rates of taxation, which are admittedly now more than the land can bear. Furthermore, as could be shown if space would permit, the basis of the proposed tax is grossly unfair. Types of land vary widely, and the costs of bringing such land into production, and, even more important, keeping it in a fertile condition, are not taken into account at all. But a tax is to be levied, if the Act is not declared ultra vires, on gross production, and the man who mines his land, depleting its productivity, will escape lightly, while the farmer who carefully preserves the fertility of his soil will be penalized for his good farming practices.

"Ersatz" food, "ersatz" clothes, "ersatz" policies, but, worst of all, "ersatz" thinking. When will we learn to use the brains for the "ersatz" therefore) with which we are all endowed to do some good genuine thinking for ourselves?

THE TANDEM

He: "I don't see why this new tandem of ours should seem so hard to pedal."

She: "Well, the only thing I don't like, dear, is the way these foot rests keep moving up and down."

SYMBOLS

The teacher was explaining the difference between the stately rose and the modest violet.

"You see, children," she said, "a beautiful, well-dressed woman walks along the street, but she is proud and does not greet anybody—that is the rose. But behind her comes a small creature, with bowed head—" "Yes, mist, I know," Tommy interrupted. "That's her husband."

How much better the world would be if these brains were turned to the other side of the ledger—turned to aid the advancement of civilization instead of aiding in and hastening its destruction! A pyramid is being built, unbalanced and unwieldy with chaotic instruments, which will topple in the future, and with its fall will be dashed to pieces the advances made in civilization within the past two hundred years.

who moved to Lacombe from Nebraska in 1907. Mr. Rainforth was born in 1879, one of a family of nine. He was brought up on his father's farm, and received his early education in Nebraska. Upon finishing school he aided his father with the chores until, in 1902, driven by a search for land, he travelled to Canada, and arrived in Lacombe in August of that year.

He was married soon after coming here to a native of Ontario, and immediately settled down on the farm on which he still lives. For twelve years Mr. and Mrs. Rainforth lived in a log shack on their farm, nine miles east and three and one-half miles south of Lacombe, during which time they built their present fine farm home.

Mr. Rainforth, after setting his mind right into mixed farming, and is a confirmed advocate of this type of farming.

He was a councillor for the Municipal District of Crow during the war, and was instrumental in the building and grading of many roads in his district. He also served a term and a half on the school board of the Eclipse School District.

Mr. and Mrs. Rainforth have two daughters, Mrs. A. Wagner of Clive, and Edith, at home, besides one son, Dick, who is married, but living on the farm.

Editor, The Lacombe Globe:

Dear Sir,—Much interest has been aroused (and not a little antagonism) by the enactment, at the recent session of the Legislature, of the "Production Tax Act" (Agricultural Land Relief Act 1938). Farmers in many areas are attempting to take some definite action to forestall the imposition of this exorbitant tax. As the U.F.A. Director for the Westsaskwian Federal Convention, I am interestingly to the press to interested farmers to get in touch with me, in order that facts and figures may be gathered and through the proper quarters submitted to the Government.

I am especially appealing to farmers who keep accounts, and who have done so for a period of years, so that average production figures may be available. All information obtained will, of course, be treated as confidential, unless otherwise authorized; that is, names will not be quoted.

If sufficient interest is aroused, both among U.F.A. Locals and among unorganized farmers, it is proposed to call a meeting after seeding to go into this matter, and formulate a resolution or resolutions, after discussion. Those interested please get in touch with me as early as possible.

Yours sincerely,

H. E. HEATH.

THE POOL QUESTION

Editor, The Lacombe Globe: Dear Sir,—The article in the middle column of the front page of your issue of May 10, regarding local paper might make interesting reading to an uninformed member of the Central Alberta Cream Pool, but to those who have endeavored to keep informed during the tobogganing tragedy of the Pool's affairs in the past two and a half years, it cannot otherwise be much out of place and grossly ridiculous.

Red Deer Grain Club To Continue Operations

The Red Deer Grain Club will continue operation again this season, using O.A.C. 21 barley. The membership this year will be only about half of last year, but there are sufficient members to make quite a satisfactory club, and with the favorable conditions obtaining, good results should be secured. Those who were members last year are using their own seed and new members are purchasing seed from former members. Many of last year's members are planning to seed larger acreages this year and this should make available quite a large amount of high-class seed barley for next spring.

Following is a list of this year's membership at his date: A. J. Newton, Arnold Hilman, Ben Langston, James Mackay, Frank Allen, Glynn Jones, Alfred Swainson, Richard Swainson, Lloyd Quinton, Frank Hattell, Donald Miller, F. Olynch, Chas. Blackmore, Richard Kaiser, Jack Garrie, Allan Bruck.

Any boys within a radius of 15 to 20 miles of Red Deer wishing to join should get in touch immediately with the District Agriculturist, Red Deer. The cost to new members is $3.00, for which they will receive approximately six bushels of barley seed. This is to be grown as a seed plot, to be margined, rogued and the sample exhibited at the fair which is held in the fall. Boys between 15 and 21 years of age are eligible.

Some suggest to any member in any sub-district the calling of a meeting of members pursuant to a contemplated reorganization. Why not have the District Agriculturist come direct from the board, and why did not the management make direct and urgent appeal to the 35 delegates when in special session in Red Deer on March 22 last.

From 1914-1918 nations bathed themselves in human blood that wars might cease, and the civilization made safe for democracy, but all of no avail. This embryo seed of April 30th origin is designed to unite the wavering factions within the Pool. Can anyone imagine such a transformation after a Government investigation which was demanded by unanimous vote of the Pool's board of directors, laid bare the true condition of the affairs of the C.A.D.P. (so far as they went). Then, along comes the management and dares to suggest that a Mr. J. M. Smith devise some plan whereby the true state of affairs can be presented to the members.

The Department of Trade and Industry made its enquiry without financial charge to the Pool and it was expected that Mr. J. M. Smith will do the same. Inasmuch as the writer does not believe that press controversy acts very far, he desires to earnestly and seriously suggest to the members of the Cream Pool that they stand 100 per cent for and instruct their delegates to the Annual meeting June 14 next to vote 100 per cent for a complete house-cleaning of the management and board of directors.

The W.W. play, "Aunt Tillie Goes to Town," was put on last Friday night before a good crowd which included many outsiders, and went through over two hours of hilarious merriment without a hitch. There were 11 characters in the play, and each carried off their part well. Perhaps John Rutschka, as nephew Mervin Tucker, should be singled out for special mention, because of his very long part, in which he was called upon to carry out a female impersonation, which he did very successfully. He deserves added credit because it was the first play in which he has taken part. Others who ably supported the cast were Jean and Agnes Farewell, Mary Jane and Helen Graves, Marie Bennett and Vance Capron. Smaller parts were taken by Miss Smith, Joyce McEdward, Paula and E. G. Hale. A luncheon cloth which was given away to the lucky ticket holder was won by Duncan McNeil. A nice lunch was served after the play. Following the play, a dance was well attended and equally well enjoyed, which lasted until after 3 a.m.

The play credit for the success of the much goes to Mrs. M. Larson, who went to considerable trouble in arranging the stage properties and other incidents necessary for the characters. She also had much of the work in connection with the lunch arrangements.

His Lucky Week
Henry McLennan's lucky star was in the ascendant last week; he was the holder of the winning ticket on a cushion which was raffled by the W.W. and the next day he won Lorne Bell's quilt.

Attends Re-union

Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Carr attended the University of Alberta Class of 1912 Reunion in Edmonton last Friday night, Mr. Carr being a member of the class. The dinner was held at the home of L. Y. Cairns, who is also a member of the same class. During the evening a beautiful silver tray was presented by the class to Dean and Mrs. W. H. Alexander in recognition of the long and intimate association of Dr. Alexander with them. He leaves the University shortly (where he has taught for 30 years) to become head of the Classical Department of the University of California.

A Western Saga

(Dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Hans and Camilla who celebrated their Golden Wedding May 3, 1938).

Listen friends, I tell you a story of two pioneers.

Hans and Camilla are the names of this pair.

Who started married life with never a care.

'Twas at Council Bluffs, Iowa, a mid-western state.

Where this couple were married back in 1838.

The rain fell in torrents, the mud was a curse.

When these two took each other for better or worse.

For better the most part, for worse now and then.

But never so had they could not rise again.

From hotel work to butchering, from butchering then—

Another try at hotel work again.

A short move away to a town called Troy.

Hans took his young family where the living was plainer.

He bought a meat market, and started a meat route.

But got tired of the business, so went and sold out.

So with his wife, two girls and five boys.

He tried his luck elsewhere with his hardships and joys.

To Oklahoma they moved in nine hundred and one.

A wild new country whose law was the gun.

This country was new, not a house nor a fence.

Just rattlesnakes, sod houses, prairie dogs and tents.

But this couple had courage, they worked hard together.

Thro' hail, sleet and wind, and scorching hot weather.

The house was built, but the purse was slim.

There were three more babies, Wilma, Raymond and Jim.

There were cyclones, hot winds, floods and drought.

'Till poor Pa Hansen said, "I'm going to get out."

So he came north to Alberta in 1910.

And bought a farm on the meridian.

There were lots of grubbing and sod to break.

Lots to learn and a home to make.

But the stock was productive, the soil was good.

There was lots of sunshine and lots of food.

The crops were fine, the best ever seen.

They were able to retire in 1918.

So they called a sale and moved to the States.

Out West to Washington. There would be no more freezing in wintry blast.

Nor working in summer's sun. They had worked all their lives, they had skimped and saved.

Now it was time to rest. No more early rising, just sleep, eat and play.

Surely that life will be best.

But the habits of a lifetime are not easily broken.

Life grew insipid and tame.

So they bought them a farm, some chickens and cows.

And started to farm again.

But sunny Alberta had got into their blood.

They couldn't seem to resist it.

The summer's seemed cooler, the winter less cold.

And the sunshine, oh! how they missed it.

So they packed up again and moved north.

To the country that seemed so fair.

And in blessed contentment they have settled down.

No more moving again for this pair.

In their comfortable home among children and friends.

What do they care of the weather?

They are happy to live among those whom they love.

Watching the sunset together.

—L.B., Rimbeby, Alta.

Government House
Closed Tuesday

Government expected that to happen, or else was wholly new in simple arithmetic, because the amount of revenue estimated in the budget and more recently by ministers as coming from the tax was just $100,000, despite the fact that Dominion Government figures show that Alberta farm mortgages total more than $85,000,000 and that a two per cent tax, therefore, would net the Government $1,700,000.

The act is regarded in Edmonton as a companion act to the House Owners' Security Act, which means that in many cases a mortgage-holder will be able to recover his money only by paying out more than he gets, and to the new Limitations of Actions Act, which forces some kind of new agreement on debts before July 1, 1940, if such agreement is to be honored at all.

Lieutenant-Governor Elected

The cabinet elected the Lieutenant-Governor from Government House finally, but the Lt.-Governor had the real victory. The cabinet had ordered him by word of mouth, and then by letter, to leave the Province's executive residence; the governor voiced no protest against being elected but he did demand that legal procedure be followed by issuance of an order-in-council.

The cabinet refused to do that, so Hon. Mr. Bowen remained in Government House. The Government ordered the telephone and other utilities cut off; the Governor had those services restored in less than five hours. The Government dismissed his secretary and his chauffeur, but they continued to work without Government pay cheques.

Finally, last Friday, the cabinet passed the order-in-council closing Government House, and Hon. Mr. Bowen immediately signed that order—his own ejection warrant. He gave notice that he would move out on Tuesday.

The Government got its vengeance on the Province's chief-of-state for having exercised royal assent on three bills, including the press bill, last October.

The Government not only forced him out of Government House, but cut off the appropriation for the vice-regal office—his allowance for secretary and even for office supplies.

Now the cabinet is trying to figure out some use for Government House. It already has employed all but one of the Government staff which worked there, and the fact that the Province has an investment of almost half a million dollars in the mansion, including the past 25 years' interest on the capitalized expenditure, means that the building will have to be kept in repair in order to protect that investment.

The total saving by ejecting the Lieutenant-Governor is about $50,000 a year. Edmonton and district business men estimate that the loss in trade as the result of closing the house will be something over $50,000 a year, which previously has accrued in the turnover in business directly resulting from the house.

Award Made History

The award of Pulitzer prizes last week in New York to Alberta weekly and daily newspapers made history; the award was in recognition of public service done by the press of this Province in the fight for freedom of speech and of the press. It was the first time that a Pulitzer prize—the greatest honor in the field of journalism, has ever been awarded outside the United States. Leaders of thought in the United States, including top officials of the Washington Government and of New York business, declared that by fighting for freedom in Alberta the newspapers of this Province had done a service to the people of the United States as well as to all Canada.

Which Is More Important—FOOD? OR CLOTHING?

IF THE WEST stopped sending food to the East there would be a great outcry. People in the cities and towns beyond the Lakeland rely on the Prairies for much of their provender. They like things made from Saskatchewan wheat and they give prizes to Manitoba butter. They boast about Alberta beef. They stand next to the United Kingdom as buyers of Prairie wheat. They annually buy nearly 25 million pounds of Western butter. They take a quarter of a million head of cattle, 28,000 calves, 46,000 hogs and 120,000 sheep and lambs.

FOOD IS A NECESSITY. And the West produces, among many other things, very satisfactory food. DOMINION TEXTILE COMPANY produces clothing material, which is also a necessity. We like to think our materials for shirts, underwear and dresses are in their own way just about as important as the carloads of Western food that seven thousand Dominion Textile Company workers in six Quebec towns annually buy with their five million dollars in wages.
